

SOLDIERS' BONUS BILL PASSED THE HOUSE THIS NOON

Brundage Accused by Chicago's Dry Chief

ENOUGH VOTES TO OVERRIDE VETO SHOWN

TRIED TO STOP ENFORCEMENT VOLSTEAD LAWS

Essington's Manager in Cook Co. Also Hit by Armstrong

Big names popped out of the beer war explosion in Chicago yesterday, according to this morning's Chicago Herald and Examiner, which says: Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, regarded as one of the strongest individual political leaders in Illinois, was accused of trying to choke off the enforcement of the Volstead act where violators were "important" or "had a drag."

Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Republican county committee and Cook county campaign manager of Senator Essington, was specifically named as having a strong personal interest in the welfare of a string of breweries which have been persistent violators of the law.

"These are owned or 'managed' by 'Terry' Gruggan and Frank Lake, the men whom Brice Armstrong, general prohibition agent, accused of bombing his home."

Both Sides Stirred
The publication of Armstrong's charge in The Herald and Examiner threw every interest—the law's side and the law violator's side—into a turmoil yesterday.

The astounding assertions of Armstrong, who has been in the dry force for four years, to the effect that reputable business men and important office holders had sought to have him dismissed, transferred, bribed and, finally, made the victim of a bomb outrage, echoed last night in Washington.

"I was offered $100,000 in one bribe," said Armstrong yesterday. "and I was also offered a bonus of $5 a barrel for every barrel of beer turned out by a group of seven breweries in Chicago. In one year this would have returned me $1,000,000."

It was disclosed last night that Armstrong receives $2400 a year salary with an added $240 a year "bonus" and this is his only income.

Submits His Report
Armstrong spent Monday writing a report to his chief, W. W. Anderson, head of the general prohibition agents here, to be forwarded to E. C. Yellowley, chief of the national organization in Washington.

The report contained startling charges upon which Anderson said that he and his Washington superiors would "go the route," sparing no one, in an exhaustive inquiry which will follow.

Among the accusations made are these:
That he had been ordered "laid off" the prohibition force by Attorney General Brundage through Homer Galpin because his activity couldn't be "controlled."

That he had been ordered transferred to Jacksonville, Fla., through the efforts of Homer Galpin and "associates" because he didn't respect the friendship of law violators with political leaders.

That a messenger came to him from Galpin asking him to accept a transfer to the federal narcotic forces in which he could name his own salary.

That a prohibition official had come to him with an offer of $5 a barrel on all the beer moved from seven Chicago breweries which in a year would make him a millionaire.

That one brewery alone offered him a bribe of $100,000, and that bribe of few dollars probably a million and a half had been made to him altogether.

That a former high prohibition executive had personally removed for "ulterior" purposes large loads of booze that had been seized by prohibition agents.

Wants to Fight
In ripping off the lid Armstrong declares that the time had come to open up with both barrels.
"It's time to fight," he said. "In March, 1922, they tried to kill me by shooting me at Joliet. They didn't succeed, although I had a narrow escape. They tried every means and used imagination to trap me, to frame me, to remove me from the government service and now they've tried to murder my family in the most cowardly fashion imaginable."

"In the fall of 1921," he said, "the intrigue started."

REP. KNUTSON'S CASE IS CALLED FOR TRIAL TODAY

Pleads Not Guilty to Serious Charge Preferred by Cops.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 18.—Representative Harold Knutson of Minnesota and L. M. Hull, a 19-year-old government employee had a preliminary hearing today at Arlington, Virginia, on grave charges preferred against them by officers who arrested them March 9 on a Virginia road just outside of Washington.

Knutson appeared in the court room accompanied by counsel and by Representatives Newton and Larson of Minnesota. He had entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned a week ago and in a public statement had declared he was the victim of a "terrible mistake" and wholly innocent of the charge against him.

John Wise, one of the officers who made the arrest, was called as the first witness. He testified he and another Arlington County traffic policeman named Burke, came upon Knutson and Hull in an automobile parked about 150 feet from the road and that Knutson offered them his automobile as collateral until he could go to Washington and obtain $100. Wise said he told him "there was nothing doing" and that he would have to submit to arrest.

Arriving at the jail, Wise testified, Knutson made further offers to "settle out of court," even tendering a blank check and telling the officer "to name the amount."

DIXON TEACHER MAY COMPETE IN OLYMPIC GAMES

Prof. John Weiss Will Try for Place with Central A.U. Team.

Prof. John Weiss of the Dixon high school faculty may be selected to represent the Illinois Athletic club of Chicago in the Olympic games, it became known today. He will go to Chicago Wednesday to enter the trials at the Broadway Armory for championships under the Central A. U. Prof. Weiss has participated in many championships both before coming to Dixon as instructor in agriculture in the high school, and since. He will enter the trials at Chicago Wednesday participating in the discus-throw and shot-put events.

John "Red" Dahey, one of the leaders in athletics in the high school, will accompany Prof. Weiss to Chicago Wednesday and will probably participate in two notable events. He will enter the championships at the Broadway armory under the Central A. U. where he is entered in the 300-yard dash. He will also stand a good chance of entering in the quarter mile event at a meeting held at North-Western University.

Governor Names Arbor, Bird Days

Hon. Len Small, Governor of the state of Illinois, has designated Friday, April 18, 1924 and Friday, Oct. 24, 1924, as Arbor and Bird Days.

In harmony with the custom of the years, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction has provided the office of each county superintendent of schools with a generous supply of illustrated booklets commemorative of Arbor and Bird Days. These booklets are the work of educators and artists whose contributions trend in a most commendable and satisfying direction.

Those interested may secure these free copies at the office of Co. Supt. L. W. Miller.

Miss Evelyn Fletcher, who recently submitted to an operation at the Dixon hospital, was able to go home Saturday.

Mrs. Jason Duis of Chicago is here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Youngberg of 619 Palmyra avenue, and other friends.

BIG PARADE QUIET AS FEW MILITIA GUARD

Parade in Protest of Recent Indictments Apparently Futile

Herrin, Ill., March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Ku Klux Klan paraders, whose demonstration against the "unrighteous verdict of the special grand jury" passed quietly this morning were real a severe shock as their parade ended, when news seeped from the Herrin City Court that they would be required to give more than two and a half million dollars in bonds this afternoon for those of the United States army service took off from Mather Field for Eugene, Oregon, at 9:48 a. m.

Four Protestant ministers of Herrin, marching abreast, headed the parade which moved up Park Avenue, the main street, to its end and then doubled back. Behind them in automobiles were veterans of the Civil War and the Herrin band. Then Charles Davis, a Klansman, bearing a large American flag and accompanied by S. Glenn Young, the Klan's investigator and subject of 65 separate counts.

Women, Babies in Parade
Other heads of the Klan followed and then men and women, walking four abreast, some of them pushing baby buggies and all of them wearing American flags.

The line of march passed twice in front of the city hall, where State's Attorney Duty appeared in person to demand the bonds. Until shortly before noon no bondsmen appeared.

After flaunting their flags and banners in Park Avenue before an indignant throng of onlookers, the Young adherents congregated about the court house as the seventy defendants marched in to appear before Judge Bowen.

Amid mingled cheers and cat-calls, hisses and derisive cries from the opposing element to the citizenry, the indicted men filed past the guard at the court house door to be arraigned.

Everyone Searched
Only the defendants, counsel and bondsmen were permitted to enter. Everyone passing the military line about the building was searched for arms.

Young was placed under bonds aggregating more than $160,000 when he had been arraigned on only three of the 31 indictments against him. As the word reached his partisans their indignation was obvious.

A special grand jury last Thursday returned 30 indictments against several citizens of Williamson county in connection with the liquor riotings which have disturbed the community for the past 90 days resulting in the death of Constable Caesar Cagle of Herrin and the wounding of Deputy Sheriff John Layman the night of Feb. 8.

Young will be called on to present bonds for more than $200,000. There were 31 separate indictments against him.

Foresees Promise of Expanding Business

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, March 18.—The immediate future carries a strong promise of further expanding business, according to Ray Vance, President Brookline Economic Service, Inc., in an address before the Illinois Manufacturers Association here today.

The closing months of 1924 will probably see a mild reaction he said. Such reaction might be averted by developments yet to come this spring but its probability is great enough to warrant present caution in plans for the end of the year.

ELKS SPECIAL TONIGHT
A special meeting of Dixon lodge, No. 779, B. P. O. Elks will be held this evening at the club house. A large class of candidates will be initiated at this time.

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Chandler arrived home from Chicago Friday night. He is improving from the recent operation he suffered for appendicitis. Their son, Elliott Chandler, wife and baby, are here from Rockford for a visit at the Chandler home.

SIGNS OF SPRING

Mrs. Peter McCoy sends word this morning that she saw a robin in her yard, a big, fat robin.
Bill Feltes on his way to work this morning saw a robin at the corner of 5th street and Galena avenue.

EQUALIZE JUMP OF WORLD FLIERS BY SHORTENING LEG

Aviators to Jump to Eugene, Ore., Today; British Praise.

BULLETIN.
Mather Field, Sacramento, Calif., March 18.—(By the Associated Press).—Starting the second leg of their 30,000 mile flight around the world, three Douglas airplanes of the United States army service took off from Mather Field for Eugene, Oregon, at 9:48 a. m.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Clover Field, Santa Monica, Calif., March 18.—Lieutenant E. H. Nelson, engineering officer of the army flight, left Rockwell Field, San Diego, for Clover Field here in the fourth world cruiser at 7:52 o'clock this morning, according to advices received here. He will stop here before proceeding north to join the three other world cruisers.

Sacramento, Calif., March 18.—(By the Associated Press).—A change in the plans for the round-the-world army aviators, a decision by the War Department, Washington, near Portland, Ore., was announced this morning by Major F. L. Martin, flight commander.

Major Martin in Sacramento just before his departure for Mather Field, stated that because of the long jump from Mather Field to Van Couver Barracks, Washington, near Portland, Ore., was announced this morning by Major F. L. Martin, flight commander.

The aviators expect to take off from Mather Field at 9 o'clock and arrive at Eugene at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The world cruisers will remain in Eugene over night and resume the flight to Seattle, Wednesday.

PLAN SITKA RECEPTION
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Sitka, Alaska, March 18.—Elaborate plans are being made here for the reception of the army aviators on their round the world flight. Large delegations from other towns headed by Governor Scott C. Bone will greet the aviators when they reach Sitka.

PRaised in Britain
By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, March 18.—The Daily News describes the world flight of American army aviators as "the most formidable of human undertakings" adding:

"If the American aviators come safely through the adventure they will be pioneers indeed."

Dixon Men Attended Rockford Snax Crawl

Major Sam Cushing and D. E. Helmick went to Rockford last Saturday night and assisted the companies of the Military Order of the Serpent from Sterling, Freeport and Rockford in putting on a "Snax Crawl."

Twelve comrades journeyed through the jungle. An election of officers resulted as follows:
W. B. Taylor, Rockford—Gu Gu.
C. F. Terlow, Rockford—Datto.
S. W. Cushing, Dixon—S. S. K. S. A.
W. Waters, Sterling—S. S. K. S. A.
E. C. Showers, Freeport—S. S. K. S. A.
R. W. Jacobs, Rockford—S. S. K. S. A.
I. M. Goodwin, Dixon—L. H. K. S. A.

D. E. Helmick, Dixon—T. I. G. G.
Another crawl will be held at Sterling, the date to be decided upon and announced later.

INFANT CHILD IS DEAD.
The infant son of Mrs. Fama Layton died Sunday evening at 9 o'clock. The child was born in Chicago, April 10, 1923. The funeral will be held at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Preston funeral chapel, Rev. Cleaver officiating.

STEWART MAN IS GIVEN BIG FINE IN LIQUOR CASE

Arrested Monday as He Brought Booze Into That Village.

Fred W. Halte of Steward was arrested by deputies Cook and Lazear as he stepped from a Milwaukee passenger train in that village last evening about 4:30, and was taken to the town hall, where he was locked up; a suit case which he carried, it was learned, cost and a plot bottle of liquor was taken from his clothing. He was turned over to Sheriff Risley a short time later and brought to Dixon and lodged in the county jail.

Information was filed in the county court this morning and Halte entered a plea of guilty to charge of possession, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquor. County Judge John B. Crabtree imposed fine of $150 and costs on the transportation and sale counts and sentenced Halte to serve 90 days in the county jail on the sale count, and to stand committed until the fine and costs are paid.

The arrest of Halte, according to the county officers, terminates a long list of complaints which have come from the east end of the county, concerning the traffic in liquor in the vicinity of Steward. Halte was warned by Sheriff Risley some time ago when numerous reports had been received by both the sheriff's and state's attorney's offices, the warning being given to protecting his wife and six small children, the oldest of who is nine years of age. Halte is said to have told the sheriff last night that he went to Cherry, Ill., for the liquor, purchasing it from an Italian woman, and used it for his own personal use. He made no denial of having sold liquor in Steward last fall.

Say Bergdoll Hopes to Return to U. S. If Penalty Isn't Great

Eberbach, Baden, March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the American draft evader, authorized his secretary to state today that Bergdoll had not agreed to return to the United States as has been reported but that he is willing to consider proposals giving assurances as to the exact punishment he would have to undergo in such case.

TALKED OUT OF TURN
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Cincinnati, O., March 18.—"Someone has let something leak—some stenographer has spoken at the wrong time," said John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, when presented with dispatches relative to Grover C. Bergdoll's agreement to return to the United States, here last night.

Commander Quinn appeared surprised at the release of such news at this time and advised newspaperman "make Norman Hapgood confirm more fully the statement he is reported to have made."

American Legion officers accompanying the commander were less receptive, however, and intimated they expected detailed official statement to be issued from American Legion headquarters in a few days.

Archbishops Face Busy Time in Rome

Rome, March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Archbishops Hayes and Mundin who are here for elevation to the cardinalate today began a strenuous week making calls. Their first was upon Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state.

Among those upon whom the archbishops called was Cardinal Bonzano, former apostolic delegate at Washington.

One of the first functions to be attended by the cardinals-designate, will be the consecration of Monsignor Cosio as bishop of Loretto. This function will occur at the American College the day after the secret consistory.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Frantz of Franklin Grove were in town on business Monday.

Clarence Lahman of Franklin Grove was a business visitor here on Monday.

Master-in-Chancery C. B. Morrison spent the week-end in Dixon.

SMALL ASSAILS HIS ENEMIES ON "PARDON" LIES

Letter from Whitman is Refutation of Lies About Governor

Before 2,000 women at Orchestra Hall Governor Len Small yesterday opened his Cook County campaign with a recital of his administration's stewardship over the inmates of the state's charitable and corrective institutions, says the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

At night he continued his drive against his political and newspaper enemies at three meetings on the North Side, where former Mayor Thompson, Capt. Oscar E. Carlstrom of Alton, candidate for attorney general, and former Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson also spoke.

The reception accorded the governor at the afternoon meeting was all he could desire. The responses to his utterances were spontaneous and wholehearted.

Whitman Backs Up Letter.
Presiding at the meeting was John L. Whitman, warden of the Joliet penitentiary, and when Gov. Small read a letter written by Mr. Whitman in reply to recent newspaper charges concerning alleged abuse of paroling and pardoning powers, he arose and said:

"I meant every word of it. Every word of it is true."

"At the outset," said Gov. Small, "I wish to make the definite statement that all the articles printed by the Chicago Tribune and its allied newspapers, charging me with pardoning perjurors, panders, parole violators, gunmen, terrorists, conspirators and child attackers, are false."

"Every article they have printed on this subject in the past six weeks is untrue. Parole in this state is not by act of the governor, and the Tribune knew when it printed these falsehoods that it lied."

People Entitled to Truth.
"The men and women voters of our state are entitled to know the truth as to any act of their public servants. Statements and denials by me, if not based upon official records, might be challenged."

"In order, therefore, to nail the infamous lies printed in the Chicago Tribune and its allied newspapers, I desire to read to you the record on pardons and paroles prepared and written by the man who is recognized as the highest authority on penology, not only in Illinois, but in the nation."

"This man has given the best years of his life to the study of this subject which so seriously affects the well-being of our society; he has for more than thirty years discussed and conferred upon this vital subject with preachers and congregations, with leaders of civic organizations, yea, with nearly all the men and women of America who have given their best thought to solving this human problem of the rehabilitation of the transgressors of our criminal laws."

"This man denounces as false every article that has been printed in the Tribune on the question of pardons and paroles."

Reads Whitman Letter.
Governor Small then read Mr. Whitman's letter, which is as follows:

"My Dear Governor:
"In order that the truth concerning pardons and paroles may be brought to every voter in Illinois, I am writing this letter with the request that at the proper time and place you bring it to the public attention."

"During the past thirty-four years I have been connected first with the Cook County jail, then the Chicago House of Correction; next I have served as superintendent of prisons for the state of Illinois, and now hold the position of warden of the Joliet penitentiary."

"Because the care and betterment of convicted persons has been my life work, I am sure that every fair-minded individual will take time carefully to consider the facts which I set forth herein and also the facts contained in a booklet recently published by the department of public welfare."

"For more than thirty years I, with leaders for prison reform in other states, struggled to secure the parole law now in effect in Illinois and certain other states of the union. On

MARTIN L. BOOS DIED SUDDENLY MONDAY EVENING

Passed Away at Home in North Dixon at 6:30 Last Eve.

Martin L. Boos died suddenly at his home, 323 North Dixon avenue at 6:30 last evening. The deceased was born in Lancaster, Pa., May 27, 1869, and moved to Sterling with his parents at an early age. Soon afterwards he went to work for the Rock Falls Manufacturing Company where he spent 20 successful years of his life. In the year 1901 he moved to Lena, Ill., starting the Lena Casket company where he served 13 successful years, returning to Dixon in 1914, starting the old original Dixon Casket company. Later he moved to Duquaine, Iowa, where he started the Hawkeye Casket company and from there to Burlington, Iowa, also starting the large casket firm at Burlington.

After superintending the Newton Novelty company at Forrester, Ill., he moved back to his home at Dixon, resuming the superintendence of the late Dixon Casket company.

Mr. Boos was a noted expert casket man, known throughout the middle west for his ability along this line and holding the highest positions in his profession.

He was married, Sept. 3, 1890, to Miss Lillian Shure of Rock Falls, Ill., and to this union, seven children were born: Mrs. George Berger, Martin Boos, Jr., Mrs. Harold Hughes, Miss Cora Elmer, Walter and Lawrence, all residing in this city, also his aged father, five brothers and four sisters: Mrs. William Abel, Mrs. Claude Bessler, Mrs. Ralph Ziegler, all of Sterling, Ill., Mrs. George Boos of Aurora, Philip Boos of DeKalb, Milton Boos of Waterloo, Iowa, Eddie Boos of Fulton, Ill., and Dave Boos of Dixon, also one brother-in-law, Edward Shure of Chicago.

Mr. Boos was a kind and loving husband and father, also an honest and upright citizen and a true Christian. He will be laid to rest in the Sterling cemetery. He had been a member of the Modern Woodmen of America for more than 20 years. Arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

Dixon Youth is with U. S. Marine Force in Nicaragua, C. A.

Washington, March 18.—Among the U. S. Marines recently assigned to duty in Central America, is Gerald Burton Stackpole, son of Mrs. Della Stackpole, 516 Jackson Ave., Dixon, Ill., who is now a member of the American Legion guard at Managua, Nicaragua, according to official reports at Marine Corps Headquarters here.

Gerald joined the Marine Corps at Chicago, Ill., last December, and was stationed at Parris Island, S. C., for several weeks. Recently he embarked on a naval vessel for Nicaragua, where he will probably remain for a year or longer before returning to the United States.

A small guard of U. S. Marines has been stationed at Nicaragua since 1912, when they occupied that country to restore order during a revolution. Although they are far from home, the Marines find many ways of entertaining themselves. They get in for sports of all kinds, even printing their own newspaper. The country abounds in game and hunting is one of the favorite pastimes. No doubt young Stackpole will have many interesting adventures to recount when he returns home.

New Motor Hearse for Dixon Service

Joe E. Miller has added a fine piece of motor equipment to his funeral service in the form of a new limousine hearse, which was driven from the plant of the Eureka Manufacturing company at Rock Falls yesterday afternoon to the garage in Dixon. The new vehicle represents the latest word in funeral motor car hearse equipment, and involves an expenditure of approximately $5,000.

The body is plain in design, black in color and is mounted on a Hickenbach chassis. The equipment is the most modern, the body being upholstered in real leather throughout, with a flower rack and all necessary accommodations. The new motor hearse will be used by Mr. Miller for the serving of local morticians.

STERLING MAN FINED.
Orrin Eselman of Sterling was arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulls in police court last evening on a charge of speeding and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Joseph Villiger and Jake Miller were Sunday evening visitors in Franklin Grove.

LITTLE JOE SEEMS THAT CERTAIN PARTY LEADERS HAVE BEEN HAVING COMPANY AT THE FRONT DOOR AND THE BACK DOOR AT THE SAME TIME

New York, March 18.—If Louis Firpo adheres to his announced intention of quitting boxing after his fight with Al Reich April 5, he will sacrifice $600,000 for a summer's exhibition jaunt which has been arranged for him.

The figures do not include a purse from a possible Dempsey match McCarney said. Included in the proposed schedule which had the full approval of Firpo, were fights with Harry Williams in New York, Floyd Johnson in Philadelphia, Fred Fulton at Fort Snelling, Minn., Tiny Herman at Louisville and Jack Renault at Buffalo.

Troops have been called out to fight the blaze.

McKenzie-Murray Bill Passed House 355 to 54 Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 18.—The house today passed the McKenzie soldier bonus bill.

The result indicated that there are enough votes in the house to override a presidential veto.

The vote came after 40 minutes debate under rules requiring a two-thirds majority and barring amendments.

As sent to the senate the bill provides for paid up, 20 year endowment life insurance policies and cash payments to those veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted compensation.

The adjusted service credit is figured on the same basis as in the old bill, which twice passed the house, $1 a day for home service and $1.25 for overseas duty, the first sixty days of service not counting.

The vote was 355 to 54.

The vote was 255 to 14. The margin over the necessary two-thirds was 32.

Nearly every member was on the floor and the galleries were crowded as the third bonus bill in four years approached a vote.

Chairman Green, opening the debate said the house twice before had passed a bonus bill and "it is now time to pass a measure which will become a law."

The insurance provision he said, would allow cash payments in twenty years, and he estimated that 82 per cent of the veterans would then be alive.

When Representative Yates, republican, Illinois, asked if there would be no opportunity to vote for a cash payment option, he was declared out of order. Cheers greeted the question but it went unanswered.

Firpo Will Pass Up $600,000 If He Quits Ring as He Indicated

Chicago, March 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Six major league baseball teams had a taste of coming conflicts yesterday in exhibition games with other squads making final preparations to break camp and embark on practice schedules.

The New York Giants occupied two innings in defeating the Chicago White Sox 5-4, in the latter's initial exhibition game; Brooklyn scored a second victory over the Phillies 6-4 and the Cleveland Indians eked the Cincinnati Reds 1-0 with every regular tallying a hit.

The pruning knife was in evidence in several camps. Five New York Yankees pitcheders are to be fanned to minors, Manager Huggins announced, using only regulars from now on. The Cincinnati Reds eliminated three, and the Pittsburgh Pirates dropped two.

George Sisler will play first base for the St. Louis Americans, business manager Friel predicted, expressing the opinion that no big league pitching would bother him.

The St. Louis Nationals primed themselves for today's engagement with the Chicago Americans. Meanwhile the Washington Senators went through a priming process for the Boston Braves who they entertain tonight. Rookie pitchers will be Washington's choice in the engagement with a view of giving them a chance before five are dropped from the roster.

The Detroit Americans celebrated St. Patrick's day with a game between players of Irish extraction and a team of "Germans." The Irish won 7-6.

LaFollette Clan is Interested in State
Primary in Illinois

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, March 18.—The LaFollette clan in the United States senate is reported much interested in the Illinois senatorial primaries and in addition to Senator LaFollette who is to speak here Saturday night. Either Senator Brookhart, Senator Norris or Senator Shipstead will come with him.

Senator Magnus Johnson may come here a week later, according to a statement from the headquarters of Newton Jenkins, a candidate for the republican nomination for U. S. senator.

From some quarters, there have been intimations that the coming of Senator LaFollette was in the nature of a protest meeting against the oil scandal situation and all that it may include and closely allied to a third presidential ticket movement, but Jenkins' headquarters says in its statement today that "we don't know anything about" any third party proposal and have no authority to speak for Senator LaFollette.

TRANSACTIONS OF
OFFICIALS IN OIL
STOCK WERE TOLD

Witness Before Oil Committee Recites Deals at Day's Hearing.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 18.—Debate on the oil disclosures, the Coolidge Mc-Lean telegram and the possible political consequences of it all, broke out afresh today in the senate.

Making his maiden speech, Senator Neely, democrat, West Virginia, bitterly assailed Senator Lodge, the republican leader, for his recent address in defense of the President, and declared Mr. Coolidge "must abide by the results of his unhappy choice" of Edward B. McLean as one of his advisors.

Reviewing hostile editorial comment upon the inquiry Senator Neely said it served to show "the intimate connection between big business and corrupt politics." Attacks by newspapers upon the senate, he said clearly indicated that their interests were being hurt by the continuing exposures.

Senator Lodge's assertion that the present should not be subjected to attacks like those recently made upon him, was characterized by the West Virginia senator as an attempt to "stifle free speech in the United States senate." The republican leader, he said, was speaking "for that intolerant colony that expelled Roger Williams because of his religious beliefs."

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 18.—Attorney General Daugherty, Senator Curtis of Kansas and Elkins of West Virginia and C. Bascom Slemmons, now secretary to President Coolidge, were among the public officials who had transactions in Sinclair or Doheny oil stocks around the time of the leases of the naval oil reserves.

Slemmons at the time was a member of the house. Other representatives dealing in the stocks included A. B.
Rouse, Kentucky; Wells G. Koontz, of West Virginia; Thomas J. Ryan,
New York, and J. H. Himes of Ohio.

The names were disclosed before the senate oil committee today when it called to the stand L. F. Bond, a federal trade commission accountant, who has examined the books of a number of brokerage houses.

Attorney General Daugherty bought 100 shares of Pan-American the Doherty Company that leased the California reserve and sold at a profit of $343.50, the accountant said. Mr.
Daugherty himself has disclosed previously that he had some dealings in Sinclair stock, both before and after he entered the cabinet.

Sen. Curtis' Purchase.
Senator Curtis, who is the assistant republican leader of the senate, was said by the witness to have bought 100 shares of Sinclair Consolidated on February 23, 1922. The records indicated it was a "straight purchase."

The attorney general's account with W. B. Hibbs & Co. of Washington, was opened in November, 1921, Bond said, in his own name and subsequently changed to the name of W.
W. Spaid, a member of Hibbs & Co.

On October 9, 1922, the attorney charged an equal amount of the same stock, Bond said.

Senator Elkins bought 500 shares
general sold 500 shares of Sinclair 700 shares on May 24, 1924, at $27.
of Sinclair Consolidated on Nov. 16, Consolidated and on Oct. 27, he purchased, at a cost of $202.35. He sold 924, and took "straight delivery" on the remaining 1,000 shares.

Bond told the committee that Slemmons bought 100 shares in Mexican Petroleum for P. W. Slemmons, and sold them at a net profit of $581. He then bought on June 23, 1923, 1,000 shares of Mexican Seaboard, another Sinclair company and sold at a profit of $1-484.35.

Representative Ryan, the witness said, dealt in 5,000 shares of Sinclair stock and 700 shares of Doheny stock in 1922 and 1923 and realized a profit of $5,845.

Bond's report bought 100 shares of Pan-American Petroleum at $8.15 and there was no record of any sale.

Representative Goodknight was shown to have made a net profit of $256 in Sinclair Consolidated and Mexican Petroleum.

Representative Himes bought and sold to the extent of 3,500 shares of oil stock, but Bond's report did not show whether there was a loss or gain.

The Sinclair Teapot Dome lease was signed April 1, 1922, and the Doherty California lease Dec. 11, 1922.

Tells of Fall's Request.
Price McKinney of Cleveland testified that Albert B. Fall had written him late in 1923 asking him to agree to say he had loaned Fall $100,000.

McKinney said he had declined to do so because he had not made any loan to the former interior secretary.

McKinney said he did not reply to Fall's letter making the request, and C. C. Chase, Fall's son-in-law, visited him at Cleveland.

Senator Curtis issued a statement later explaining that he had purchased the Sinclair stock for his daughter, Mrs. Permelia Curtis George, and that it had been delivered to her in July, 1922, under an agreement by which she deposited the dividends in bank to the account of her children.

After questioning Henry Wood, house of New York about his published charges that the Doheny interests had agreed to sell much of the California naval oil reserve output to British interests, the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

SMALL ASSAULTS
HIS ENEMIES ON
"PARDON" LIES

account of unfair and untrue publi-cizing in regard to paroles in the state of Illinois, I am fearful that the lifetime work of this group, as well as the work done by the American Prisons Congress, may be destroyed.

"For many years I was in charge of the Cook County Jail under Sheriffs
James A. Gilbert, James A. Pease, E.
J. Magersdorf, Thomas Barrett and Christopher Strassheim.

"I was appointed to the superintendency of the Chicago House of Correction by Mayors Fred Busse, Carlson, C. G. Gorman, and Thomas H. Harrison and William Hale Thompson, Governor Lowden appointed me superintendent of prisons of Illinois and later I was appointed warden of the Joliet penitentiary under the present administration.

"I have served alike under Democratic and Republican administrations, and have never taken an active part in politics.

"My life has been devoted to the reformation of those who transgress our laws.

"While serving in my capacity as warden or on the parole board my sole purpose has been to salvage for the sake of the community, as well as for the sake of the prisoner and his family, the good.

"About 2,500 different prisoners' cases are considered each year by the parole board.

"The parole law has operated in this state during the last three years so that 87 per cent of the prisoners paroled from Joliet and 83 per cent of those paroled throughout the state, have gone straight. This splendid record speaks for itself.

Illinois' Record Best.
"This record is better than that of any other state in the Union, or of any other country in the world, where attempts are made scientifically to administer penal laws.

"The governor has the power of appointing the board, but has nothing to do with its work in parole matters.

"The present members serving on the parole board are Will Colvin, chairman, who was first appointed by Governor Duane, continued on the board under Governor Lowden, who made him chairman, which position he continues to hold under the present administration; Charles P. Hitch, from Paris, Ill., who was appointed by Governor Lowden and retained by Governor Sherman Searle, assistant director of public welfare, appointed by Governor Lowden and retained by you; Penitentiary of Decatur and Charles J. McCall of Morrison, the one being named to fill a vacancy caused by death and the other to fill a vacancy caused by resignation.

"So that when the Chicago Tribune attempts to connect you, Governor Small, with paroles, it is not printing the truth.

Proud of Parole System.
"I am proud of our parole system and the excellent manner in which it has been and is being administered by the parole board.

"In their attempt to destroy you, governors, they are trying to bring down the confidence of the people in the law and jeopardizing the future of the thousands of dependents of those who have been saved by the parole system and who are making good to their employers and the community in which they live.

"The parole law of Illinois is as well regarded by many other states in the United States that they have been continuing to copy many of its provisions into their laws, both as to form and administration.

"A notable instance of this is the state of Pennsylvania. About a year ago Governor Pinchot requested me to come to Pennsylvania and advise as to what could be done under their parole law. Many of the suggestions that I made were accepted, others they propose to adopt as soon as legislative sanction can be obtained.

"It was very interesting to me to read in the Chicago Daily News about the wonderful work that the state of Pennsylvania was doing along the lines of suggestions that have been made to them while things that have been done in Illinois for many years and for which they give us no credit.

The attention of the Daily News was called to this fact by one of the parole supervisors of the state of Illinois.
However, that paper has not yet seen fit to give credit to Illinois either for her excellent parole law and the way it is being executed, or for teaching Pennsylvania the Illinois way.

Law Scientific and Humane.
"Governor Small, you have added 50 per cent to the parole office during your administration, that is one reason why a much larger percentage of those paroled have gone straight than in previous administrations, and one reason why Illinois leads all states in successful operation of its parole law.

"I conclude that the Illinois parole law is the most scientific and humane system yet devised for saving and rehabilitating the unfortunate members of society who violate the laws; that its administration has been markedly successful, in that 87 percent of those who have been paroled from Joliet have made good and become honest and useful members of society; that the present parole board, a majority of whose members were originally appointed under prior administrations, has exercised its powers with good judgment and exceptional prudence and that, because of the parole law and its excellent administration, vast benefits have resulted in rebuilding the unfortunate, in re-

establishing their families, and the returning to society those who might otherwise have been totally lost.

"I sincerely hope that, for the benefit of the words of the state and their dependents, the misrepresentations of the Tribune will not prevail against you and that you will be re-nominated and re-elected governor.

Assaults Eslington's Stand.
Governor Small referred to his opponent, State Senator Thurlow G. Es-lington, as a tool of the public utility interests.

The "traction monopoly," the governor said, "desires the election of Es-lington so that, when the street railway franchises in Chicago expire in February, 1927, 'it will have as governor, their man Eslington who will sign the bill passed by a traction controlled Legislature to extend their franchises and permit the traction monopoly to charge 8, 9 or 10 cents car fare."

The night meetings were held at the Lyman Trumbull School, Ashland and Foster avenues; Social Turner Hall, 1651
Belmont ave., and at Lincoln Turner
Hall, Diversy Blvd. and Sheffield ave.

Tomorrow the Sterling Y. M. C. A. is sending one of her crack bowling teams down to meet our Y. M. C. A. five. The Sterling team, hails from the International Harvester Co. and is one of the teams going to the Chicago tournament. The Dixon team will be captained by C. V. Chapman, who promises a real game for all those who wish to watch it.

THE HAND THAT ROCKS THE CRADLE—

They say that man is mighty,
He governs land and sea,
He wields a mighty scepter
O'er lesser powers than he;
But mightier power and stronger
Man from his throne has hurled,
For the hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world.

S. D. Community Club Meeting

A large number of the South Dixon Community club members met at the home of Mrs. L. F. Henry on the Peoria road in an all-day meeting last Wednesday, March 13th.

At noon an elaborate picnic dinner was enjoyed. Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser, Mrs. George Travis and Mrs. Ed. Henry assisted the hostess.

After the dinner the meeting was called to order and the newly elected officers were installed, and the meeting was then turned over to the newly elected president, who gave an interesting talk on the plans for the coming year, outlining much work that would be possible for them to do and giving some good resolutions to be adopted for the year.

Mrs. Alfred Tourtellot then rendered a beautiful piano solo, which was greatly enjoyed and then graciously responded to an encore.

A number of the members gave short talks on the good they derived from the different lectures at the Farmers' Institute. Mrs. Roy Fischer then gave a pleasing reading.

An interesting letter from the American Legion Auxiliary society of which the club is a member, was read, the recipes and hints for the month were presented, giving each member a chance to copy them.

Mrs. George Travis gave a short talk on the Federation of Women's clubs. One new name was added to the membership roll and the business meeting was then brought to a close.

Quite a little sewing was accomplished during the day.

The entire day was replete with pleasure and at a late hour the club adjourned to meet in two weeks with their president, Mrs. J. C. Wade, worth for an all-day meeting at which time there will be an interesting program on "Short Cuts in Housecleaning." Mrs. Oscar Missman, Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser and Mrs. Martha Leivan will have charge of this program.

Each member is to answer roll call with some useful household hint.

P. N. G. CLUB MEETING—

The members of the P. N. G. club will meet Thursday at 1. O. O. F. hall. Supper will be served at 6:30. The ladies will sew on quilt blocks. Members are requested to notify the hostesses as to their attendance. The hostesses will be Mesdames Alice Anderson, Brooks, Brown, Nelson and Hardesty.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM RETURNS AFTER VISIT—

Mrs. W. A. Cunningham returned to Chicago last evening after a visit with Mrs. E. D. Alexander. Last Friday evening Mrs. Alexander entertained at bridge for her friend.

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER LAST EVENING—

Attorney and Mrs. Robert Warner entertained Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Dyart, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shaw at dinner last evening at their bluff park home.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

(By Sister Mary.)
(A Daily Menu for the Stout and Thin)

EAT AND—LOSE WEIGHT.

One large orange, 2 tablespoons dried beef with scrambled eggs, one medium sized stuffed tomato, 1/2 head lettuce, 1 broiled sweetbread, 1/2 cup spinach with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 cup canned peas, two tablespoons prune whip, 1 small nut cookie, 1/2 cup canned pear, 2 thin crisp pieces gluten toast, 1 piece whole wheat toast, one bran roll, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 1044. Protein, 326; fat, 292; carbohydrate, 426. Iron, .0193 gram.

Stuffed Tomato.
One medium sized tomato, 1 tablespoon dried celery, 1 tablespoon cottage cheese, 1 tablespoon chopped hickory nuts.

Cut slice from stem end of tomato and scoop out seeds and pulp. Put the seeds and pulp through a strainer to remove seeds. Reserve pulp and juice. Mix celery, cheese and nuts with pulp and juice to moisten, season with salt and pepper and a very little onion juice. Fill tomato with mixture and serve on a bed of lettuce.

Total calories, 140. Protein, 23; fat, 99; carbohydrate, 27. Iron, .0004 gram.

GAIN WEIGHT.
One large orange, 1 slice salt pork with cream gravy on toast, 1 cup uncooked cereal with sliced banana, 1 cup cream of potato soup, dried beef with scrambled eggs (2 tablespoons), 1 medium sized stuffed tomato, 1/2 head lettuce, 1 veal bird, 4 tablespoons scalloped potatoes with cheese, 1/2 cup spinach with cream sauce, 1/2 cup buttered peas, four tablespoons prune whip, 4 tablespoons boiled custard, 1 nut cookie, one whole canned pear with 1 tablespoon chopped nuts and 1 tablespoon whip cream, 2 cornmeal muffins, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 2 slices raisin bread, 1 pint whole milk, 3 tablespoons butter.

Total calories, 3287. Protein, 394; fat, 1182; carbohydrate, 1711. Iron, .0173 gram.

As sweet breads are very expensive in some places, the veal birds are suggested for the rest of the family.

If the member of the family who is dining to reduce prefers a "heartier" breakfast to luncheon, the eggs and dried beef can be used as the breakfast dish and the salt pork with cream gravy for luncheon.

The stuffed tomato is swathed in oil mayonnaise, Neufchatel cheese replaces the cottage cheese, and cream as well as tomato juice moistens the cheese mixture.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

Oil of Cedar.

Oil the inside of the boxes in which you store away your winter garments with oil of cedar.

Sour Milk, Soda.

Sour milk and soda are preferable to sweet milk for gingerbread, biscuits or griddle cakes as they make a lighter dough.

Cooking Prunes.

It is unnecessary to sweeten prunes if you will cook them slowly after having soaked them overnight in water.

Seasonings.

Keep all seasoning in closed receptacles. All of the smell that creeps out means the strength is being lost.

Improves Potatoes.

Old potatoes are very much improved in flavor if they are soaked for an hour or so in cold water, then plunged into boiling salted water.

Use Soap.

When making eyelets in linen, place your material over a cake of white soap and the edges will not ravel.

Treating Bird.

When a bird is sick, a simple home remedy is to give it a few drops of olive oil and then feed it green leaves of cabbage, lettuce or celery tops.

Save Juices.

When you broil meat put the meat platter, on which the meat is to be served, directly under the meat and all the juices will be saved. Also it obviates the necessity of washing the dripping pan.

Keeps Fat Out.

A fourth of a teaspoon of ground ginger added to the doughnut dough will prevent the doughnuts from absorbing too much fat.

Removes Stain.

Kerosene oil applied to a burn will remove the sting very promptly.

Warm the Milk.

When baking a custard warm the milk before adding the egg and no water will settle in the bottom of the dish.

Scorched Potatoes.

When boiled potatoes burn remove the pan from the fire and set instantly in a dish of cold water. In a very short time the potatoes may be removed from the scorched pan without sticking and by boiling a few minutes longer in a clean pan the scorched taste will be removed.

Peel Easily.

Hold tomatoes over the gas flame for a few seconds before you peel them and the skin is easily removed.

Class in the Corner Social

Friday evening, March 14th, will long be remembered by the "Class in the Corner," of the Brethren church. The banquet Friday evening was the result of a six weeks' contest between two divisions of the same class.

These two divisions were called Hustlers and Rustlers, with Venita Burgard and Clifford Reisinger, respectively, as captains.

The Hustlers evidently did not hustle enough, hence the Rustlers came out in the lead. This left to the Hustlers the serving of a banquet to all young people who had attended the Sunday school class, during the six weeks campaign.

At 7:30 Friday evening, sixty-eight joyous young people seated themselves at four large tables in the basement of the church. In addition to the feast on the heavily tables, there were feasts of song, toasts and solid spiritual food.

Choice thoughts gleaned from remarks by Rev. C. H. Gnagy, Religious director for the church of the Brethren at Mt. Morris College District and Pastor W. C. Sell, are as follows:

"You young people can congratulate yourselves as being with such good company this evening. This world is blotted with vice, murder and crime. Many of our jails, reform schools and penitentiaries are full to overflowing. But Sunday school boys and girls are not feeding these institutions. Not if Judge Newcomer's testimony of his experience in Chicago, amounts to anything. He says—'Out of the 25,000 young men that I have sentenced in the last 25 years, less than ten have been regular Sunday school attendants.'"

"This should encourage all young people to honor, attend, love and respect the Sunday school and church. The church does not always understand youth. Therefore, youth must have patience with older folks and know they mean well."

Older folks, will do well, also, to remember that they too, were once young."

"We ought to regard the decision of the majority. This applies to the old as well as the young."

"We cannot always start at the top of the ladder. We need to start at the bottom and climb up."

"Service is the watchword of the hour. In our Sunday school we need religious information and Biblical knowledge."

"The reason why the Dead Sea is dead is because it continues to take in and not give out."

"There is only one flag that should float above 'Old Glory,' and that one is the blood stained flag of King Immanuel—Jesus Christ—our Savior. Let us keep THAT flag flying high and not let it drag in the dust."

The Class in the Corner, together with the teacher, wishes to thank all who took part in this social and Sunday school activity. Especial thanks are due those who prepared the supper—Mrs. Frank Suter, Mrs. J. W. Burd and Mrs. Isaac E. Burgard.

Mrs. Goodsell Soloist in a Capella Choir

Mrs. E. M. Goodsell, one of Dixon's most prominent and highly regarded musicians, will sing in the sacred cantata to be given Wednesday evening in Melrose in the A. Capella choir of the Tri-Cities. Mrs. Goodsell, who possesses a voice of rare beauty will be the contralto soloist for the cantata, "The Woman of Samaria," by William Sterndale Bennett. The accompaniment will be the pipe organ and piano. The cantata carries much work for the contralto soloist and gives an opportunity for the display of Mrs. Goodsell's talent. The A. Capella choir appeared here last fall at St. Paul's church. The choir is directed by Otto H. Bostrom.

Breaks News to Family in Rhyme

A young woman, married, residing not quite a hundred miles from this city, and whose family reside here, writes in verse the story of the shearing of the locks, as follows:

Here's a token of remembrance
To the days of long ago—
When we wore our hair in Psyche's
Up on high, or down real low.
But them days are gone forever
For my locks have all been shorn,
And my hair in little ringlets
Or plain straight will now be worn—
Now dear sister and dear mother
If you know what's good for you,
You will go to some good barber
And have your locks cut off, too.
She signed her initials,
"A. T."

People Giving Generously to Scouts

Response to the appeal for funds for the Girl Scouts fund, the nature of which was explained in Monday evening's Telegraph, is proving very gratifying to the promoters, subscriptions of $5 each having been received from the following:

M. R. Forsythe, H. V. Hunt, Mrs. L. D. Dement, Mrs. Lloyd Davies, John L. Davies, L. L. Edson, Valie & O'Malley, W. E. Tiden, O. H. Martin, L. E. Edwards, A. P. Armstrong, Dixon Theater Co., Charles E. Keyes, J. C. Penny Co., Boynton-Richards Co., Gordon Utley, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leland, Mrs. Max Rosenthal, Mrs. R. C. Bovey, George Campbell and Mrs. H. C. Bartholmew.

Subscriptions may be left with M. R. Forsythe at the Dixon National Bank, O. M. Rogers or any member of the Scout Council.

The Annual "Guest Day" Party Enjoyed

Last evening Chapter A. C. III, P. E. O. gave their annual "Guest Day" party at the beautiful home of Mrs. H. A. Roe. The decorations, refreshments and program were in keeping with St. Patrick's day.

Mrs. Coppins, the president in her charming manner, welcomed the guests, and presented the program which was given by Miss Roe, piano solo; Mrs. Charters, two groups of Irish songs; Little Betty Zarger, in quaint Irish costume, gave a dainty dance, "My Irish Rose." Mrs. Eichler gave four short Irish readings. Encores were demanded and graciously given. After the program Mah Jongg was played until late, when refreshments were served.

Never has Chapter A. C. had for her friends a more enjoyable evening.

What Paris Has to Say About Skirts

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, March 18.—Spring styles show a certain tendency to shorten the skirts, in some cases as much as 18 inches from the floor. Generally, however, the garments fall to a point four or five inches above the ankles. It is the belief among Parisians that American women prefer shorter skirts and the American buyers have been kept busy warding off the attacks of both the anti and pro short skirt forces which have waged bitter warfare since the new styles came out.

Most of the models being taken back by American buyers are a sort of compromise 10 to 12 inches from the floor.

Some of the hosiery creations shown this spring provide startling effects, especially one design called the "pelure d'oignon" (onion skin).

Decorative buttons are the feature of tailored suit, coat and dress.

REPUDIATING MOHAMMED.

It is a bold thing that the Turks are doing in banishing the caliph, seizing church property and virtually banning the Mohammedan religion in Turkey. It may make or break the Turks.

Always the Turks have been associated with Mohammedanism. They were fiery followers of the prophet when as a semi-barbarous tribe they invaded Europe and seized Constantinople. For 400 years the ruler of Turkey was the spiritual head of the Moslem church, until Mustapha Kemal, head of the Turkish nationalists now in power, separated the church and state a year ago, exiling the old sultan and turning the caliphate over to his heir, Abdul Medjid. Now Turkey follows the example of Soviet Russia with the Greek church, and going further than Lenin dared go. Turkey and Islam at last are divorced. The other 200,000,000 or so of Mohammedans, in Asia, Africa and southeastern Europe, may do as they like, but Turkey will have no more of Mohammed, in whose name Turkey so long waxed great and powerful.

The Turks now stand absolutely on their own feet. They need no longer expect any support from Mohammedan countries, religious or military. They have dealt a blow at Mohammedanism itself in repudiating the faith, and thereby made Christendom a little easier in its mind. A new uprising of Islam is now hardly thinkable. But how about Turkey itself?

The Turks have always been soldiers and despots. When they were prosperous, their prosperity came from the exploitation of other faiths and races. They have not been builders, in art or literature or industry or commerce. When not fighting they have been mainly farmers of a crude sort. Their economic life has been carried on mainly by Greeks and Armenians, whom they have recently exiled or reduced to helpless poverty.

It will be interesting to see whether the Turks can really function and prosper as a modern nation, when they renounce the very things that made them powerful in the past. This may be the new birth of a nation, or it may be national suicide.

UPHOLDING LAW.

Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes says only what every thinking citizen knows when he declares that if the prohibition law fails, other laws will fail. Those who begin by disregarding that law will soon proceed to violate laws in general. Thus indifference to the prohibition law may mean eventually "governmental chaos."

The country is still far from "chaos," but it has made a considerable start in that direction, as a result of the widespread evasion of the Eighteenth amendment and Volstead act and the various state dry enforcement laws.

One of the worst features of the situation is the evasion of responsibility. Most people agree that bootlegging is reprehensible. Yet most people seem to see no particular harm in the patronizing of bootleggers, by others if not themselves. Commissioner Haynes insists "the person who buys illicit liquor is as guilty as the bootlegger." This is true morally if not legally.

The very worst thing about the whole matter is tolerance of the widespread lawbreaking. That is where nearly everybody is guilty. "The responsibility of law enforcement," as Mr. Haynes declares, "rests on the entire community. It should not be left to the federal government, which has only a skeleton of the organization it needs to enforce the law." It needs the cooperation of all state and local officials and of all good private citizens.

"QUESTION HOURS" FOR CABINET.

The United States senate has so loaded itself with investigations that it has hardly enough members to conduct them and hardly any time to transact ordinary business. It has also demanded large quantities of information from various cabinet officers, regarding matters of special senatorial interest, imposing a burden on the executive departments to furnish the material as well as upon the senators who will have to digest it when furnished. The house is in a similar plight, though not quite so overburdened by its inquiries, because it has more members to share the work.

It is pointed out by Senator Couzens that a great part of this labor could be avoided by a simple process of bringing cabinet members and their subordinates before congress regularly for discussion of any matters of mutual interest. An administrative head could often tell the senate or house in five minutes what it takes an investigating committee weeks to find out under the present system of separate action.

More coordination between the executive and legislative branches of government is urgently needed. It exists in nearly all other governments. The lack of it is responsible for a large part of the slowness and inefficiency with which our government functions in these latter years.

RED-HATS BLUE.

Suit cases are getting larger, approaching trunk-like dimensions. And tips from travelers are shrinking. So lament the Red-Hats who carry luggage between railroad station and train. In some sections, it's complained that the average tip is only seven cents. People have learned a lesson in economy. Fewer quarters and halves are tossed about than in the post-war boom when money grew on trees.

The Red-Hats say there's only one human practice that hasn't changed—the tendency, of travelers with the heaviest luggage, to pay the Red-Hat the least for his services.

HI'S COMFORT TO THE DEMS.

Having heard the Senator's Rockford speech, if we were managing the Democrats' campaign we would say to him: "Now, Hi, if there is anything we can do for you don't hesitate to call on us. Anything like helping to arrange your route, hiring halls and bands, a little contribution, too, on the railroad fare, if it is acceptable, don't be backward in letting us know. Remember, Hi, we feel friendly toward you." Rockford Gazette.

The millennium has arrived at Mer Rouge, La., if nowhere else, and the lion lies down with the lamb. To be explicit, a Jew is now sheriff of Morehouse parish and Attorney General Cocco has abandoned prosecution of the Ku-Klux.

LaFollette is reported to have been asked to withdraw from the republican party and head a radical group. He may head the leader-seeking group, but he can not withdraw from people who long ago withdrew from him.

"You can't have fun and be a policeman," remarks General Butler, Philadelphia vice-sweeper, discovering that in real life as in comic opera "A policeman's life is not a happy one."

"The west is boss," says a writer in the effete east. And the effete east mutters, "So boss, till the milking's finished."

McAdoo is delighted with life in California, reports say. Well, there will be no occasion for him to change his residence.

France is finding that, much as it cost to lick Germany, it costs still more to make Germany pay for the licking.

Chicago medium swapped a charm for $1000 and we can't decide if she is a happy medium or a medium of exchange.

Chemists, we read, are seeking new uses for oil. And so, we guess, are the politicians.

Mister Fuzz Wuzz took a hammer and rapped loudly

"You may go on with the trial," declared Mister Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man, in a loud voice.

Nancy and Nick wondered who was to go on with the trial, but by and by the putz-gatherer cat got up, pulled down his red jacket and stroked his whiskers, and said loudly: "Ladies and gentlemen, I am here to take the part of the tin soldier. He didn't mean to run over the peanut boy and break his nose."

"I object!" barked the rubber dog, "and please don't get me excited or I shall whistle through the top of my head. Perhaps he didn't mean to do it, but he did it just the same and I demand that he be punished." Mister Fuzz Wuzz took a hammer and rapped loudly. "Order!" he called.

The cat and the dog and all the rest of the Doofunnies became quiet at once.

"I just wanted to say," said the cat switching his long tail, "that the tin soldier never touched the peanut boy. It was his horse."

"Then," spoke up the rubber dog quickly, "let's punish the horse. I insist that somebody be punished for breaking the peanut boy's nose."

"We shall call witnesses," said the cat with dignity. "I can show you that neither the horse nor the soldier were to blame. Will you please tell your story, Mr. Tin Soldier?"

"Certainly, sir," said the tin soldier, riding up on his tin horse. "But if you please, I'm general, sir!" "Tell your story, please, general," corrected the cat seating himself with dignity and smoothing his white neck ruffle.

"That sounds much better," said the general. "It was this way. I was riding along Candy Street in Doofunny Land, when, without a bit of warning, the wooden waddle duck came rushing along as though he had been shot out of a gun. My horse shied to one side and then I heard a crunching. That's the first I knew of the peanut boy being anywhere near me. It was his nose that was being crunched."

"Hear! Hear!" cried the patent leather cat, springing up. "It is the wooden waddle duck who should be on trial. It was all his fault!"

"Please call the duck!" ordered Mister Fuzz Wuzz.

"Good!" said the dog, and he sat down and everybody else sat down, and the wooden waddle duck waddled up with a great clatter.

"Quack! Quack!" he declared. What do you wish me to say?"

"Tell how you happened to scare the tin soldier's horse, the general's horse," commanded Mister Fuzz Wuzz.

"Sure I will, your honor," said the duck. "But if anyone could have been more scared than I was, he was a dandy."

"Don't say 'dandy' here," ordered Mister Fuzz Wuzz.

"Beg your pardon. 'I'll say he was a dandy.'"

PROGRESS

BY BERTON BRALEY.
They fell a tree
Which nature took two thousand years to grow;
They lay it low
In half a day or so.

And cut it up in beards and timbers they
Will build a flat
And ugly row of houses
For workmen and their spouses—
And call it Progress!

They take a green
And lovely country, quiet and serene
And build a smoke city
Ugly and gray and gritty—
And call it Progress!

They take a hill
Whose rugged cliffs gave every eye a thrill,
And mine it for cement
Till all its sides are rent
And gashed and gaunt and gray—
And call it progress!

It seems need not be
That progress need not be
A thing that must employ Man's skill and science mainly to destroy
The beauty that is nature's.
Why should man's Trail of advancement be so strewn
With cane
And broken glass?

When shall we cup to learn,
When shall we have the patience to discern
That beauty pays?—Ah, when we do,
Beauty shall glimmer everywhere we view—
And that is progress.

Note Found on Dead Fugitive May Lead to Solution Murder

Casper, Wyo., March 17.—Casper police were seeking today to determine whether a letter found in the pockets of Fred Van Gorden, Casper real estate agent, had any bearing on the slaying of his wife and son, Arthur, 12, and the subsequent duel at Douglas, Wyo., early yesterday with Sheriff Peyton which ended Van Gorden's life. The letter was addressed to Alberta Lynch, general delivery, Oakland, Calif., and said:

"Sweetheart—Have not had a letter from you for ten days. Am leaving Casper forever, so don't write me any more there. Your piano would cost about $15 to ship to you. With love, as ever—"

There was no signature. The bodies of Mrs. Pearl Van Gorden, prominent Casper society woman, and the boy were found floating in Dump Bridge Creek two miles east of Casper yesterday. They had been shot to death. Police believe that the slaying was done in the Van Gorden home and that Van Gorden took the

IT'S THE CUT OF YOUR CLOTHES THAT COUNTS

Society Brand Clothes

The Correct Styles for Spring

The loose, easy suit will be generally worn this season. The coat, either two or three button, with broad, square shoulders; a long, soft roll to the lapels; straight, wide trousers. Because of its comfort and informal effect, it's certain to remain in favor.

The influence of the straight line style appears in all the good models for spring—a pleasing change to all well dressed men, both for comfort and appearance.

In the new styles, the cut is the important thing, as always. The cut of your suit decides whether or not it is correct.

That's why we have Society Brand. Their cut is not approached by any other ready-to-wear clothing. We will be very glad to have you look them over.

Large assortments of these new styles are now here for your inspection.

PLATFORM FOR LAFOLLETTE IS GIVEN PUBLICITY

Wis. Organization Pro- pounds Planks of Bob's Campaign.

Madison, Wis., March 17.—The platform of the LaFollette progressive republican delegates, as made public today by Henry A. Huber, secretary of the LaFollette campaign committee, pledges "complete house cleaning in the department of justice, department of the interior and the other executive departments."

"We demand that the power of the federal government be used to crush private monopoly, not to foster it," concludes the first plank.

The second plank reads: "We pledge recovery of the navy's oil reserves and all other parts of the public domain which have been fraudulently or illegally leased or otherwise wrongfully transferred to the control of the private interests; we favor public ownership of the nation's water power and the creation and development of a national super-water power system."

The platform declares for the repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law.

It is declared that public ownership of railroads "with definite safeguards against bureaucratic control," is "the only final solution of the transportation problem."

"Diligent action to collect the accumulated interest upon the eleven billion dollars owing us by foreign governments," is advocated.

"We denounce the Mellon plan," says the platform, "as a device to relieve multi-millionaires at the expense of other tax payers."

EXTRA! HE'LL ACCEPT

Washington March 17.—Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, will accept a third party nomination for the presidency if the republican convention at Cleveland next June nominates President Coolidge and adopts a "conservative" platform.

Senator LaFollette is discouraging his friends from making a fight for him in the republican convention but has indicated to them that should the Cleveland nomination and platform be reactionary from the viewpoint of his group he will not look with disfavor upon a third party nomination.

Leaders in movements mostly in the central west and northwest states to push a third party, have been in conference with the Wisconsin senator.

Senator LaFollette is reported by those who have recently talked with him as feeling that his group have no hopes of accomplishing within the republican party what they are aiming to bring about, but must look for success in a third ticket which will hope to draw from both old parties.

The Wisconsin senator's visitors say he is also opposed to a third party convention.

LETTER FROM RUTH ELLINGTON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

Although I know, dear, that you are coming home Saturday, there are a few things I want you to know before you see Jack.

In the first place, if I were you, now that Karl is going to marry Alice, I would tell Jack all about the pearls. In the second place, I believe I would tell him you are a half owner in my business, and in the third place—well, on second thought, I do not think I'll say anything about the third place, for that place is where only you and Jack can meet and you do not want a third person even to suggest the meeting.

Sometimes I think, Leslie, that the reason why married people are not happier is because they keep so much from each other. If one lives with another person all the time, if two people must be chained together even if those bonds be the bonds of matrimony, I believe they should either be absolute strangers, if that can be done, or the complete one that marriage is supposed to make of two people.

I had a long talk the other day with your husband, Leslie. I really like him very much, and I honestly believe if you two people would be perfectly honest with one another, you would be the happiest people on earth. Really and truly I do not think either of you has anything that matters much concealed. Jack has been an exemplary husband, has he not? But you go on thinking that the other is not as broad minded as sympathetic or as understanding as you yourself are, and that's the trouble.

I'm glad you went to see Jack's mother. I knew you had only to go there to make the conquest of her. Leslie, I wonder if you know that all women like you. I do not believe you have the same attraction for all men, but when a man does proffer you his friendship I am sure he cares very much for you.

By the way, I have met your friend and Jack's secretary, Mrs. Atherton. When I first saw her I didn't think she was even good looking, but I have come to the conclusion that she has an odd personality perhaps more fascinating than good looks. She seems excessively frank, yet I have a feeling that she never tells anything she doesn't want to tell. That's the cleverest kind of a clever woman, Leslie.

I wish when you return you would give her a special invitation to come to your house some evening when you know Jack is going to be away, and I will drop in. She rather piques my curiosity. Did you tell me you used to go to school together, and that she had had a great smashup in her married life?

The other evening she was a member of a party at one of the restaurants, and I must say that with her gorgeous red hair bobbed and plastered down all over her head, and her simple little black sleeveless dress which showed arms of the peculiar whiteness that always goes with the skin of a red head, with her brown eyes sparkling with red-dish gleams, she was the most individual looking woman in the room.

Jack who was there with a party of men, evidently called the attention of his party to her, for before the evening was over the whole four men which made up Jack's party had joined the others around their table. Soon after they came, however, Mrs. Atherton made some excuse and left. I'm rather curious to know what it was.

I'll be awfully glad to see you Saturday. I've been lonely without you, Leslie. The business is going on fine, and we're going to make a barrel of money.

Lovingly, RUTH.

CROSSED UP RIVALS

ROOKIE SAW RIGHT FIELDER MOVING IN SO HE DISOBEYED ORDERS AND HIT A HOME RUN

BY BILLY EVANS

When Hugh Jennings, famous baseball leader, now assisting John McGraw in handling the New York Giants, gives an order he wants it carried out. Thereby hangs an interesting tale.

Some years ago on the Detroit club, then managed by Jennings, was a player named Hank Perry, a hard-hitting outfielder. Perry had his faults, but he certainly could hit the old pill. And what is more, he liked to take his healthy swing at all times.

Jennings like all wise league managers, figures that every successful major league player must have a certain amount of brains and there are times when he should use them.

The Athletics were playing in Detroit. In the old days games between these two clubs were always red-hot affairs. Late in the game with the Athletics leading by a run the first Detroit batsman hit safely.

The next batter was Perry. Jennings instructed him to bunt in order to move the runner to second. It so happens that Jennings also added, "Now if you see them creeping in on you, cross 'em up, try to push the ball past them."

Jennings, of course, had reference to the infield moving in with the pitch in an effort to frustrate Perry's plan to sacrifice the runner to second.

The first pitch was bad and Perry took it. The next one was over and he took his swing, driving the ball to the remote corner of the outfield, scoring the runner on first and completing the circuit himself. The hit broke up the game.

Jennings, sitting on the bench, was raving, despite the fact that Perry had hit a home run. He had wilfully disobeyed orders.

"Didn't I tell you to bunt?" was the greeting handed Perry by Jennings as he came back to the bench.

"Sure, but you told me to push it past them, if they were creeping in. Guess you didn't notice the way that right fielder was sneaking in."

That was too much for even Jennings.

Pupils Lee County Schools Show Thrift

An increased interest in thrift among the pupils of local schools is noted with the passing of each school year. A report meeting special mention and special commendation comes from the two-room school building formerly known as the Stony Point

School, but now a part of Community Consolidated District No. 172, lying adjacent to the limits of the city of Dixon, and including the homes of many of the employees of the Sandusky Cement Company.

The report states that all children in both rooms are savings contributors, thereby rating the entire school in the 100% class. Nineteen children are enrolled in the lower room, and sixteen in the upper room. The amounts saved by these children for the school year to date are as follows:

Lower room, $108.00. Upper room, $85.74.

Two veteran teachers of ability pre side in this school—Miss Blanche O'Malley, Principal and Mrs. Edna Pine.

HEALTH PROMOTION SUBJECT OF APPEAL FROM GOVERNOR

Week of April 20 Set Aside
By Small for Observance.

Springfield, Ill.—Conforming with a proclamation issued by Governor Small, the state department of public health has announced a comprehensive program for the celebration of the sixth annual health promotion week in Illinois. Activities, according to the program, will begin on Sunday, April 20, with sermons, addresses and lectures on various phases of public and individual health in the Sunday Schools and churches throughout the state.

These will be followed by special events, designated to emphasize some important, fundamental health principle, on each of the following days of week. Monday is diphtheria eradication day; Tuesday will be mental hygiene day; Wednesday, better babies and birth registration day; Thursday, physical examination day; Friday, school health day and Saturday, better diet day.

Copies of the program, together with a letter inviting individual and community participation in the program, have gone forward from the state department of public health to the public health workers and various community leaders of the state. A special bulletin devoted to the subject will be issued about April 1.

"The program this year," said Dr. Isaac D. Hawkins, state director of public health, "is one of the most comprehensive, practical and potentially beneficial that has ever been developed. Nobody expects its observance to turn the state over into a Garden of Eden or a paradise of health, but the general participation of citizens in the program will certainly have the effect of crystallizing sympathetic consideration on a subject of first hand interest to everybody and this would mark a distinct advancement toward a higher standard of public health."

"Few people realize the vast, unnecessary destruction and mischief that is done by preventable diseases. Diphtheria, for example, caused more than 10,000 cases of illness last year and if each case caused an average illness of 10 days the total sick time amounted to something like 275 years of the lives of the victims."

"Health promotion week programs will bring out just such facts as these so that public demands for relief may be followed by the application of practical methods that science holds ready."

OBITUARY

DR. WILLIAM W. HANES.

Dr. William Walter Hanes, the youngest of five children of Samuel Brewer and Mary Waukup Hanes, was born in Pine Creek township, June 13, 1861, and died at his home in Mt. Morris, March 11, 1924, aged 62 years, 8 months and 28 days. Of his brothers and sisters he is survived by two brothers, Samuel Waukup Hanes of Pine Creek and Dr. J. C. Hanes of Hastings, Neb.; a half sister, Mrs. Sarah Medlar of York, Neb.; one sister, Mrs. Adelaide Bovey and one brother, Luther Hanes preceded him in death.

Dr. Hanes received his preliminary education in the public schools of his district, a business college in Keokuk, Iowa, and in Jennings Seminary, Aurora, Ill. After a brief service as a teacher in schools in his community, he entered his professional training in the Physio-Medical Institute of Cincinnati, O., from which he was graduated with the degree of M. D. in 1883.

He commenced immediately the practice of medicine in Adeline, Ill., whence he removed to Mt. Morris in 1886. His death closes forty-one years of continuous practice of medicine, all of it practically in the same community.

Dr. Hanes was united in marriage in 1889 to Georgiana Robner of Mt. Morris, to this union was born one son, Ernest, who with the widow survives. During his life Dr. Hanes was active in the social and political affairs of his town and county. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and of Samuel H. Davis lodge No. 96, A. F. & A. M. He served his village as mayor several terms and was coroner of Ogle county four terms, a total of 16 years.

He was widely known in the county and respected and beloved in his community as a cheerful friend and advisor. His ideals of human service were never absent from his mind and were exemplified in the manifold activity of his everyday life.

SAN CARLO GRAND OPERA APPEARS AT AUDITORIUM

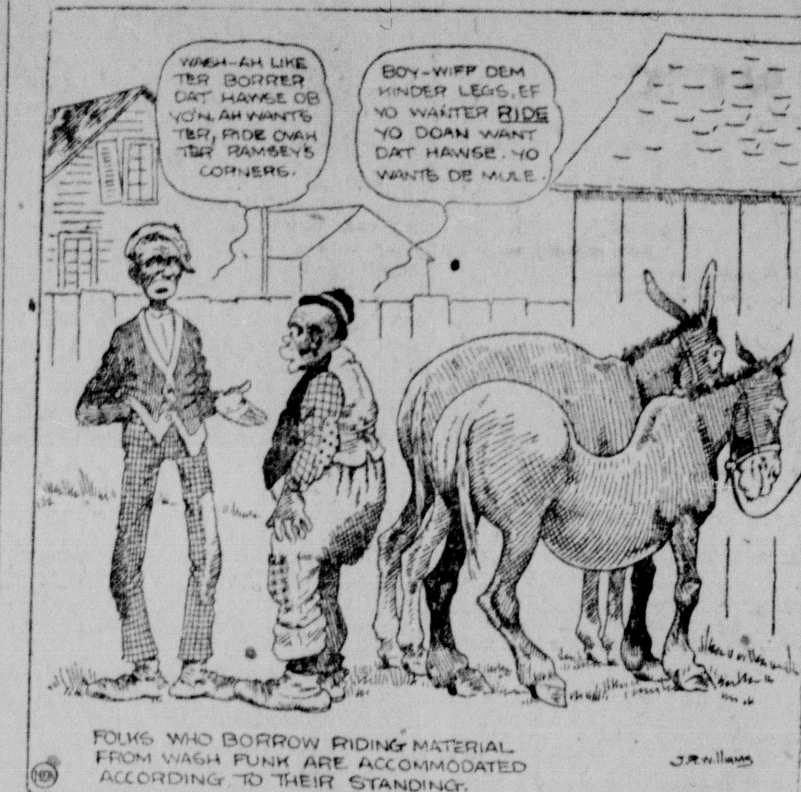

A supplementary season of grand opera is to be given in Chicago. By the courtesy of the Chicago Civic Opera, Fortune Gallo, the well-known New York impresario, will present his San Carlo Grand Opera Company at the Auditorium for one week, from March 31 to April 6th inclusive.

Although, to use his own words, Fortune Gallo feels that to bring grand opera to Chicago is somewhat like shipping oil to Oklahoma, he has decided to make the experiment, and feels under an obligation to the heads of the Chicago Civic Opera for enabling him to do so. One strong motive for the visit is that the San Carlo Company has appeared in every city with the exception of Chicago. Each year it has a season of several weeks in New York, and last September and October the performances of the Company at the huge Century Theatre in that city drew packed houses nightly.

The San Carlo company includes many singers who have achieved high rank in opera, and several new artists of distinction. Altogether the announcement is full of interest and there is good reason to believe that Fortune Gallo's enterprise will not go unrequited.

Government Lawyers Leave Pacific Coast

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Los Angeles, Calif., March 18.—Former Senator Alton Pomerene and O. J. Roberts, his associate counsel, planned to leave today for Washington after they had launched in federal court here yesterday, the government's suit against Doherty interests for cancellation of naval reserve oil land leases in the Elk Hills district.

Meanwhile E. L. Doherty prepared to testify before the county grand jury today in another disputed lease case. The lease about which the grand jury seeks information is one granted to the Doherty interests on municipally owned land at the Harbor. Legality of this lease has been attacked on the grounds that the Los Angeles city charter specifically forbids such leasing of municipal harbor frontage.

Seek Fund to Keep Schools Open After Depository Closed

Hayward, Wis., March 17.—While federal examiners investigated further the books of the First National Bank of Hayward, which closed on March 8 with losses said to exceed over $100,000, officials of Sawyer county took steps to continue operation of schools and libraries here.

A large portion of Sawyer county funds were on deposit at the bank. Closure of the bank by national bank examiners followed after a meeting of depositors March 6 when Henry S. Rohlf, president of the bank, announced the condition of the institution. Rohlf is regarded as Hayward's first citizen.

The bank has deposits totalling approximately $300,000.

God's Love Seeking Men

Read Matt. 18:7-14. Text 18:12. "How think ye? If any man have a hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and go unto the mountains, and seek that which goeth astray? What would a man do to God which would in any sense hurt God and for which a man ought to apologize to God? The wrong done springs out of the character of God and the nearness of God to the life of man. God is close of the life of a man, always saying, "I want you. I want you."

MEDITATION: The wooing power of the love of God has lifted men from lower stages of selfishness and self-indulgence to, higher planes wherein some apprehend, though dimly perhaps, the workings of his love in the lives of his children. God's love yet seeks to win our lives more fully and through us to win the millions who know him not.

PERSONAL QUESTION. Am I gripped when another goes astray? PRAYER: We pray Thee, Almighty God, that Thy grace may rest upon our spirits. May we feel the impress of Thy love upon our lives. Let Thy love enlighten our path as stars in the night. Abide with us, in Christ's name. Amen.

I Spent $100,000

To find these ways to youth and beauty
By Edna Wallace Hopper

My mother was rich and ambitious. She went with me to search the world for the greatest beauty helps in existence. They cost us a fortune and many years of time. But they made me a famous beauty. I became the rage. And now, at the age of 62, they keep me a beauty still. I have seen those same helps bring to many plain girls multiplied attractions. To some they brought careers of beauty. I have seen them bring to countless women decades of added youth. So now I have placed the matchless helps at every woman's call. And I am doing my best to urge women to employ them.

You need but four. I found 32 great beauty helps. But French experts combined them in four preparations. So these results came very easy to me. One is a super-clay. Not like the crude and muddy clays you read about today. This clay is white, refined and dainty. It has been perfected by 20 years of scientific study. I call it my White Youth Clay. Before I found it, I never knew one which would do.

Clay is a beauty essential. It purges the skin of all that clogs or mars it. It creates a rosy glow. It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. It has brought to millions new complexions. But my White Youth Clay vastly exceeds the old types. The cost is 50 cents and 51.

My Youth Cream. My Youth Cream combines both cream and strawberry. Also all the best French experts know to foster the fine texture of the skin.

I use it after the clay. Also as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. I am never without it, to whiten, soften, feed and smooth the skin. I have never known another cold cream to bring comparable results. My Youth Cream costs 60 cents.

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which does what nothing else can do. The greatest beauty experts now employ this formula, but they charge for it a price which few can pay. Facial Youth contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. All the refuse, crime and dirt go with it. No other method cleans the skin like Facial Youth. The cost is 75c.

My Wonderful Hair. Millions of women envy my hair. It is thick, silky and luxuriant. I have never had dandruff or falling hair, never a touch of gray. The reason lies in my Hair Youth. I apply it daily with an eye dropper, directly to the scalp. It removes the hardened oil and dandruff which stifles the hair roots. It stimulates and fertilizes. You will be amazed to see how hair thrives when the scalp is kept in shape. My Hair Youth costs 50 cents and 51 with eye dropper. The results come quickly. I hope you will learn what it means to your hair. To those four products I owe my beauty and my youth. Now all druggists and toilet counters supply them to all who want like results. For the sake of all you prize most, go learn what they can do. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago—Adv.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Colonel Holmes, soldier and adventurer, returns to England, his native land, where war with Holland has broken out. His Grace of Buckingham hires Holmes to abduct the beautiful actress, Sylvia Farquhar. It is dark when the colonel carries her to the house Buckingham has rented. Upon their arrival Holmes is horrified to see that Sylvia is an old sweetheart.

The servants of the Duke render the colonel unconscious. When Buckingham attempts to embrace Sylvia, her dress falls from her throat, revealing a purple blotch, token of the plague.

Holmes nurses Sylvia and saves her life. When Holmes catches the plague Sylvia nurses him back to life. Holmes deems himself unworthy of Sylvia and leaves her. He goes to call on his old landlord.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The vintner pursed his lips and sadly shook his head, regarding his guest the while from under bent brows.

"Why, sir," he said, "there's no French shipping and no ships bound for France at Wapping, and mighty few ships of any kind. The port of London is as empty as Proctor's yonder. There's not a foreign ship'll put into it, nor an English one so out of it, for she wouldn't be given harbor anywhere for fear of the infection."

The Colonel's face lengthened in dismay. This, he thought, was the last blow of his malignant Fortune.

"I shall have to go to Portsmouth, then," he announced gloomily. "God knows how I shall get there."

"We never will," for Portsmouth would not have, nor any other town in England neither, coming as ye do from London. I tell you, sir, the country's all crazed with fear of the plague."

"But I've a certificate of health," "Ye'd need to have it backed by a minister of state or ever Portsmouth would let you land there, sir."

Holmes looked at him blankly for a moment then expressed his bitterness in a laugh.

"In that case I don't know what remains."

"Why, ye say ye're a safe man. Ye'll not have seen His Grace of Al-bemarle's proclamation asking for safe men?"

"Asking for safe men? To what end?"

"Nay, the proclamation don't say. Ye'll find that out in Whitehall, may be. Things being like this with you, now ye might think it's worth while to ask. It might be something for ye, for the present at least."

Holmes rose. "Whatever it may be, when a man is faced with starvation he had best realize that pride won't fill an empty belly," Banks agreed, eyeing the Colonel's uncouth garments.

"But if ye're thinking of paying a visit to Whitehall ye'd be wise to put on other suit than the above-stairs. Ye'll never get past the lackies in that livery."

So you see issuing presently from the sign of The Harp a Colonel Holmes who had entered it an hour earlier. In a dark blue suit of camel ermine lined by a little gold lace, black Spanish boots, and a black beaver set off by a heavy plume of royal blue, without a sword, it is true, but swinging a long cane, he presented a figure rarely seen just then in London streets.

The usher at the Cockpit who went to announce him returned almost at once to conduct him into that pleasant chamber overlooking the park where His Grace of Al-bemarle acted today as deputy for the pleasure-loving libertine prince who had forsaken his stricken capital.

The Duke heaved himself up as the Colonel entered.

"So you're come at last, Randall!" was his astounding greeting. "On my life, you've taken your own time in answering my letter."

"Your letter," said Holmes. And he stared blankly at the Duke, as he clasped the proffered hand.

"My letter, yes. You had it? The letter that I sent you nigh upon a month ago to the Paul's Head?"

"Nay," said Holmes. "I had no letter."

"But . . . Al-bemarle looked almost as if he did not believe him. 'The landlady there kept it for you. She said, I think, that you were absent at the time, but would be back in a day or two, and that you should have the letter at once on your return.'"

"A month ago, do you say? But it is two months and more since I left the Paul's Head!"

"What do you tell me? Ah, wait. My messenger shall speak for himself on this." And he strode away to his bell-ringer.

But Holmes checked him. "Nay, nay," he cried with a wry smile. "There's not the need. I think I understand. Your messenger would, no doubt, announce whence he came, and Mrs. Quinn, fearing that the news might be to my advantage, acted so as to prevent his making further search for me."

"What's this?" The Duke's heavy face empurpled. "Do you charge her with suppressing a communication from an office of state? By Heaven, if she's still alive I'll have her gaoled for it."

"Let be," said Holmes, seizing him by the arm. "Devil take the woman! Tell me of the letter. Ye'll never mean that you had found employment for me, after all?"

"You seem incredulous, Randall? Did you doubt my zeal for you?"

"Oh, not your zeal. But the possibility of your helping one who was in my case."

"Aye, aye. But as to that, why, Buckingham improved it when he stood for your loyalty before the Justices. I heard of that. And when the chance came, the chance of the Bombay command that already I had earlier intended for you . . ."

"The Bombay command?" Holmes began to wonder did he dream. "But I thought that it had been required by Buckingham for a friend of his own."

"Sir Henry Stanhope, yes. So it had, and Stanhope sailed for the Indies with the commission. But it seems that when he did so he already carried the seeds of the plague within him. For he died of it on the voyage. I wrote to you at once asking you to seek me here, and I waited a fortnight to hear from you. As you made no sign, I concluded that either you were stricken with the plague, or no longer desired the office, and I proceeded to appoint another gentleman of promise."

Holmes folded the pinions of his soaring hopes and let himself fall back into his despondency. He uttered a groan.

"But . . . not the end," Al-bemarle checked him. "No sooner had I appointed this than he, too, fell sick of the plague, and died a week ago. If ye're not afraid that the plague is bound up with this commission, it's at your disposal, and it shall be made out to you at once."

Holmes was gasping for breath. "You . . . you mean that . . . that I am to have the command, after all? It was incredible. He dared not believe it."

"That is what I have said. The commission is . . . Al-bemarle broke off suddenly, and fell back before him. "What else, you mean? You're white as a ghost. Ye're not ill?" And he lunged out a handkerchief that flung a reek of myrrh and ginger on the air, leaving Holmes no single doubt of the thing his grace was feeling. The humor of it took Holmes sharply, and his laugh rang out further to startle the Duke.

"There's no need for electuaries against me," he assured his grace. "I am certified in health and carry no infection. I left Bunhill Fields this morning."

"What?" Al-bemarle was astounded. "Dye mean ye've had the plague?"

"That is the whole reason of my being here. I am a safe man now. And I came in answer to your proclamation asking for safe men."

Al-bemarle continued to stare at him in deepening amazement. "So that is what brought you?" he said at last, when full understanding came to him.

"But for that I certainly should never have come."

"Maybe, maybe," said his grace briskly. "But what matters now is that you are here, and that command is yours if you still wish it. It is an important office, as I told you, and so that you discharge its duties, as I know you will, it may prove but a stepping-stone to greater things. What do you say?"

"Say?" cried Holmes, his cheeks flushed, his gray eyes gleaming. "Why, I give you thanks with all my heart."

"Then you accept it. Good! For I believe you to be the very man for the office." Al-bemarle stepped to his writing-table, selected from among some documents a parchment bearing a heavy seal, sat down, took up a pen, and wrote briskly for a few seconds. He dusted the writing with pounce, and proffered the document.

"Here, then, is your commission. How soon can you sail?"

"In a month," said Holmes promptly.

"A month!" Al-bemarle was taken aback. He frowned. "Why, man, you should be ready in a week."

"Myself, I could be ready in a day. But I mean to take this new-found tide of fortune at the flood, and, as I am, I cannot interrupt him impatiently."

"Don't you realize, man, the time that has been already lost? For four months now this office has stood vacant."

"Which means that there's a very competent lieutenant in charge. Let him continue yet awhile. You see, it may be that I shall have a commission, who cannot possibly be ready in less than a month."

With an odd, reckless trust in the continuance of Fortune's favor now, he boldly added: "You have said that I am the very man for the office. The government can wait a month, or you can appoint some one less likely to serve it as efficiently."

Al-bemarle smiled at him grimly across the table. "Ye're full of surprises today, Myster Randall. And this one baffles me."

Holmes poured out his tale, and Al-bemarle gave him a sympathetic hearing. When he had done, the Duke sighed and turned aside before replying, to examine the pages of a notebook at his elbow.

Klan Will Assemble in Herrin Tomorrow to Protect Inquest

Herrin, Ill., March 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gathering of the Ku Klux Klan in Herrin tomorrow to protest against what they term "the unrighteous verdicts of the special grand jury" which indicted S. Glenn Young, its paid investigator and others, on Thursday, was announced from various pulpits in southern Illinois last night and will bring 25,000 here tomorrow, church leaders declared today.

S. Glenn Young, it became known this morning, will be arraigned in the Herrin city court on 55 counts, during the demonstration and will be required to present bond for approximately $100,000. Others indicted will be placed under bonds, ranging from $1,000 to $4,000. Their indictments grew out of the recent dry raids conducted by the Klan.

A parade will be the means of chief protest. Congregations of all Herhian protestant churches will march under banners bearing the names of their churches and insofar as possible outside church organizations it was announced, will do likewise. Women of the Herrin churches today started preparing to "feed the multitude."

BREWERS ABLE TO OVERRIDE HAYNES, ARMSTRONG STATES

Says They Have Prohibition Enforcement Their Own Way.

Chicago, March 18.—(By Associated Press.)—Brewers, federal prohibition agent whose home was bombed Sunday and who yesterday charged political interference with the enforcement of the dry law, has been summoned to Washington by David A. Blair, commissioner of internal revenue.

F. Scott McBride, Illinois superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, in a letter to Wayne E. Wheeler, general counsel for the league, which Armstrong will take to Washington supports Armstrong in his charges.

Armstrong named national, state and county officials and politicians in his charges, asserting they had attempted to effect his discharge or transfer because he could not be controlled. Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Cook County Republican committee and Edward J. Brundage, Illinois attorney general, named by Armstrong deny the charges.

Big Parade Marks St. Patrick's Day in New York City

New York, March 17.—The annual parade on Fifth Ave., was the feature of the St. Patrick's Day celebration here today. The leaders expected 25,000 men and women to take part.

Egan Clancy, president of the Irish Republican Labor Alliance, characterized the celebration as a further step for "politicians and office holders in control of the Irish organization here to gain notoriety."

Eamon De Valera's followers also took no part in the celebration. Organizers of the parade said, however, that factional differences of the past years had been forgotten and that today's parade would be the largest and most representative ever held in the city.

Make Your Own Cough Mixture for the Whole Family and Save Money. It's Easy.

When you can make in your own home a wonderful cough mixture far ahead of any you can buy ready made, why not do it?

The home made mixture will stop the most stubborn cough and is fine for chest colds and acute catarrh. Children love it.

Get from Rowland Bros., or any druggist one ounce of Parment (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar—as directed and enough water to make half a pint—that's all there is to it.

Like a soothing, healing poultice one costly substance in this home made cough mixture spreads itself completely over the membrane of the throat. This causes the most stubborn hang on cough to cease almost instantly. No ordinary slow acting cough syrup contains this expensive ingredient—Adv.

THE NUT CRACKER

When reducing, the time and amount of water to be taken is a point of importance. In the real reducing diet I advocate your use of at least one full pint daily.

The bodily loss of water, in one way and another, is about two quarts daily. So in your diet, as advocated in the article on reducing, you will notice the amount is comparatively small.

This gives you a good idea of what part water plays in food and the digestive processes. If your body, under ordinary living conditions, calls for about three or four pints of water daily (although comparatively few take this amount) you can readily see what loss will result through the diet ration.

As no weight reduction is advocated for those under 19 or 20, the amount of water need not vary to the extent of more than one pint either way.

Another important point to be carefully considered, in the reducing diet, men, is the attention one must give to keeping careful tab on bodily condition and weight every day or two.

If you feel an uneasy sense of undue weakness after a few days or a week go slow on your exercise program until the real effect of the reducing diet has become more adapted to the bodily sense of healthy accommodation.

Bear in mind the success of your reducing diet will depend as much on your common sense and attitude of mind as on the diet itself.

A SANITARY SANI-FLAT FLAT OIL PAINT

PURE WHITE Benjamin Moore & Co.

For the kind of work you like to do

This well-known flat oil paint provides the utmost in satisfaction. Every can is uniform in quality, and always gives the good results you desire.

It works easily and sets slowly, showing no laps or brush marks. It has great body, two coats covering satisfactorily—one gallon is sufficient to cover 500 to 700 square feet, depending upon the surface.

With properly prepared and treated oil as a binder, Sani-Flat does not crack, craze or alligator—it keeps elastic and affords a surface that may be washed repeatedly and painted over after a number of years of wear when necessary.

Recommended as being the best paint for use with the "Vari-Tone" Sponge Roller, a new patented device for decorating interior wall surfaces.

You can buy Sani-Flat in white or the twenty tints listed here. Our quantity output keeps the price reasonable.
